The third number of this Directory is presented to the public, with many thanks for kind favors and gratitude to patrons for substantial aid in producing the book.

The towns of Brookline and West Roxbury have prospered well since the first number was issued. There has been much increase in wealth and population. No pains have been spared to collect accurate information by a thorough canvas. Every citizen and sojourner has been called upon, and the work must be reliable—more so even than formerly. But no great fault has ever been found with the Directory. It is hoped this work will be preserved forever, as a memento of these times and of the inhabitants at this day. The Macks and O's are not so numerous as they will be when the big Metropolitan Directory shall come along; but there is no lack of worthy names. Let us thank the Lord for small favors, that is, small Directories.

D. DUDLEY.

As several sketches of the early history of this town have been inserted in this Directory, I propose to begin with the year 1691, old style.

According to the ancient records, about this time, John Brown (perhaps the one that had the "little Injun"), was admitted to be an inhabitant of Roxbury.

In 1691, it was voted in town meeting, to build a watch house upon the meeting house hill, at that part of the town commonly called "Jamaica." The same year it was ordered that there be a committee of three men annually chosen for the seating of persons in the meeting house, as there may be occasion for the same, one of which three men shall be of Muddy River (Brookline), and chosen by the inhabitants there, the other two to be inhabitants of Roxbury, and to be annually chosen upon the first Monday in March, being the stated time for the choice of Selectmen, Constables, and other Town officers for the year ensuing.

Joseph Warren was the principal carpenter of the town, and he kept the public buildings in repair, the inhabitants of Muddy River paying a fourth of the expense.

This gentleman originated the kind of apple called Roxbury Russet, according to Dr. John C. Warren, who gives a sketch of him in his family history. Joseph was killed by a fall from an apple tree.

Gov. Joseph Dudley resided in Roxbury at this time, and his son, Colonel William Dudley's residence was then or soon after, in West Roxbury.

On the third of April, 1711, the inhabitants of Jamaica Plain petitioned the town to be set off, as a separate precinct by a line on the Western side of the River from the East to the northwest, to include all those citizens that voluntarily desire it.

In May following, the town ordered the clerk to enter the following vote in answer to the petition of the western part of the Town. viz.: "that their precinct line should begin at the line between Dorchester and Roxbury, where the head line between the first and second divisions, strike the aforesaid line, so running down to the river, and then the river to be the bounds until it comes to the place where the road crosseth it by Isaac Bowen's, running as the way goes to the school house and so to the line between the school land and the land of Josiah Holland, and so across the south end of the great Pond to Brookline."

Colonel William Dudley was the most prominent man in town for several years, about this time being chosen often Moderator, Chairman of the Selectmen, Representative, &c. annually. In 1724, his brother Paul Dudley was chosen Moderator, and Colonel William was first Selectman. The same year Joseph Warren junior, son of the carpenter mentioned above, was chosen one of the town officers. He was father of Major General Joseph Warren, the patriot of Bunker Hill fame.

Hon. Paul Dudley above-named had the honor to have a bridge named for him in 1719-20.

The town meeting of March 7th, voted that the Selectmen should return thanks to the Honorable Paul Dudley, Esq., for building the upper stone bridge over Smelt brook in the town street, and, that henceforward it be called by the name of "Dudley's Bridge."

The people of this town were excited by the acts of Parliament requiring a tax on tea, while it was imported into England, free of duty. On May 12th, 1773, they resolved in town meeting, "that the claim of Parliament to tax America is, in other words, a claim of Right, to levy contributions on us at pleasure," &c. "That a virtuous and steady opposition to this ministerial plan of governing America is absolutely necessary to preserve even the shadow of Liberty, and is a duty which every freeman in America owes to his Country, to himself and to his Posterity," &c.

"Resolved, that this town look upon themselves, as in duty bound to themselves and posterity to stand fast in that Liberty wherewith the Supreme Being hath made them free, and that they will readily join with the town of Boston and other sister toyns in such constitutional measures, as shall be judged proper to preserve and hand down to posterity inviolate, those inestimable rights and liberties, handed down to us under Providence by our worthy ancestors."

In 1781, John Hancock had 52 votes in Roxbury for Governor; and about this time many patriotic resolutions were passed to promote the welfare and prosperity of the common people of this country, by lightening taxation and cheapening the necessities of life.

The town of West Roxbury is very prosperous at present, the taxes of 1872 amounting to $238,208.

There is a high school, four grammar schools, eighteen primary schools, drawing schools, evening schools, &c.

The high school called the Eliot School, was established about 170 years ago, being incorporated in 1804.

Some of the principal founders of this school were Rev. John Eliot in 1689, John Watson in 1693, and Mrs. Abigail Brewer in 1818. For 18 years this school has been open to all the pupils of the town of suitable age and qualifications.

The appropriations for Schools in West Roxbury in 1872, amounted to $59,000.
